

Meetings, Retreats, and Other Rentals

Headlands' multi-room facility and proximity to a wide range of trails for outdoor excursions makes for an ideal setting for meetings, retreats, and everything in between. Our spaces provide enough room to spread out for large, all-team meetings, and can also accommodate small break-out sessions and intimate gatherings. The Eastwing, Rodeo Room, and Officer's Club can comfortably accommodate between 10 and 140 guests.

For additional questions, information for planning your event (including ways to include an artist component in your event), contact info@headlands.org. Discounts are available for non-profit groups.

Available Event Rental Spaces

Rodeo Room

Renovated in 1987 by conceptual sculptors David Ireland and Mark Thompson, the Rodeo Room often functions as Headlands' conference room. The walls are shellacked with rich colors of ochre and green, reflecting the hues in the hills visible just beyond the windows.

Mess Hall

The Mess Hall, Headlands' dining space, is much more than a utilitarian renovation. Artist Ann Hamilton created a comfortable and welcoming environment that encourages interaction among all who come to Headlands. From the mismatched chairs, to the hearth-flanked open space for preparing and eating food, the Mess Hall embodies the sense of community that is so integral to Headlands' mission.
